Apple Inc. (NASDAQ:AAPL (<https://www.insidermonkey.com/insider-trading/company/apple%20inc%20193/>)) is one of the 10 stocks that Jim Cramer and analysts are watching (<https://www.insidermonkey.com/blog/10-stocks-jim-cramer-and-analysts-are-watching-1552969/>). After the initial keynote at the company's Worldwide Developers Conference (WWDC), several analysts covered the stock. On June 10, Citi maintained a Buy rating and a $240 price target on the stock and sees the event as a strong setup for next year.

The firm highlighted the unified “liquid glass” design, progress on Vision Pro, the iPad’s shift toward a Mac experience, and better integration of iPhone apps on Mac. Citi also pointed to Apple Intelligence being built into apps across devices. Despite this, the firm said investor attention remains on the delayed personalized Siri update now expected in 2026.

“Hey, finally there’s a stock that people now love to downgrade... I’m talking about Apple. I expect to hear some downgrades tomorrow because of today’s supposedly ho-hum Worldwide Developers Conference... But what the critics seemed to be missing is that Apple is the only company I’ve ever bought or not. Did you hear switch? I didn’t hear switch. As long as I didn’t hear switch, I’m going to hold the stock...”

Early investors will be the ones positioned to ride the wave of this technological tsunami.

Ground Floor Opportunity: Remember the early days of the internet?

Those who saw the potential of tech giants back then are sitting pretty today.

AI is at a similar inflection point.

We're not talking about established players – we're talking about nimble startups with groundbreaking ideas and the potential to become the next Google or Amazon.

This is your chance to get in before the rockets take off!

Disruption is the New Name of the Game: Let's face it, complacency breeds stagnation.

AI is the ultimate disruptor, and it's shaking the foundations of traditional industries.

The companies that embrace AI will thrive, while the dinosaurs clinging to outdated methods will be left in the dust.

As an investor, you want to be on the side of the winners, and AI is the winning ticket.

The Talent Pool is Overflowing: The world's brightest minds are flocking to AI.

From computer scientists to mathematicians, the next generation of innovators is pouring its energy into this field.

This influx of talent guarantees a constant stream of groundbreaking ideas and rapid advancements.

By investing in AI, you're essentially backing the future.

The future is powered by artificial intelligence, and the time to invest is NOW.

Don't be a spectator in this technological revolution.

I work for one of the largest independent financial publishers in the world – representing over 1 million people in 148 countries.

We're independently funding today's broadcast to address something on the mind of every investor in America right now...

Should I put my money in Artificial Intelligence?

Here to answer that for us... and give away his No. 1 free AI recommendation... is 50-year Wall Street titan, Marc Chaikin.

Marc's been a trader, stockbroker, and analyst. He was the head of the options department at a major brokerage firm and is a sought-after expert for CNBC, Fox Business, Barron's, and Yahoo! Finance...

But what Marc's most known for is his award-winning stock-rating system. Which determines whether a stock could shoot sky-high in the next three to six months... or come crashing down.

That's why Marc's work appears in every Bloomberg and Reuters terminal on the planet...
